Famous Murder Case Goes Into Judge's Hands After Month.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Chicago—After portions of inclosing argument of Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney had been stricken from the record by Judge John H. Caverly as a "cowardly, dastardly attack upon the integrity of this court and an attempt to intimidate it," the court took under advisement today the penalty which he must decide for Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, confessed kidnapers and murderers of Robert Frank.

The remarks of the court came out of a clear sky and startled the crowded court room into a shocked silence.

Mr. Crowe's jaw dropped and he blanchered visibly under the judicial broadside.

"Your honor, I hind—" he began, but the judge interrupted him.

"The state's attorney knew full well that his remarks would be heralded far and wide," said the court. "He knew, too, the court would have no opportunity to reply or defend himself from criticism except by the action he has taken."

Decision on Sept. 10.
The judge then read a prepared statement and at its conclusion announced he would give his decision on Sept. 10, at 10:30 a. m., unless illness prevents.

The Federation of Labor Speaks Its Mind.

In another column will be found the David Lawrence letter of the day. It is of the most interesting character to the student of current politics and as revealing the attitude of the federation toward some of the most important economic subjects of the times. It practices no intellectual dishonesty in the statements which it deals a paragraph in praise of the United States steel company and our present industrial system. With Mr. Lawrence, one is set to amazement, $500, with such a basic set of principles as is indicated by this article quoted from the Federationist, the official paper of the A. F. L., the Federation came to endorse La Follette for president.

There seems to be no common ground whatever between the metes and bounds of the Federation's political faith as here expressed, and the platform of La Follette. The Federationist seems frankly to be putting these things into print in order to clearly state the position of the Federation before the election. To those in the organization who read the publication it would seem to absolve anyone from voting for La Follette since none of the things mentioned are finally to be resolved into political issues.

The Gazette has long held that the economic difficulties which arise from time to time cannot be settled in partisanship nor can they be ordered by political changes. For instance, the Federationist takes issue with La Follette's public ownership scheme; it opposes his definition of monopoly and makes one of its own; it combats the La Follette idea of productive organization and again it has a kind word to say for the great corporations which have been so organized. Here, certainly, is anathema to the La Follette platform believers. There is not a single thing in the La Follette platform which in any way fits into or runs along in the same lines with the Federationist's declarations and analysis of principles. It is not hard to agree with the Federationist in the belief that the Sherman anti-trust law ought to be repealed. It has outlived its usefulness if it ever had any and is only applied here and there in a hit and miss fashion, dependent on the state of mind of the attorney general of the United States and the supposedly injured parties.

It is of importance that the Federationist article have the widest circulation. Men are too often led by prejudices and preconceived and premature ideas and are not always given to study the broad and general principles which survive the acid test and become the real reason for existence of associations or organizations. Labor has taken it for granted that La Follette speaks its piece. This most emphatically shows he does not.

Dear Mr. La Follette: It is easier to tear down than to rebuild. You always have a heap of things left which you cannot put back afterward.

"Humdrum Virtues"
The New York Times thinks that Calvin Coolidge stands by the humdrum political virtues and that his address shows no "brilliant conceptions and strokes of genius." It does look that way. Mr. Coolidge is a believer in the fables of our land and the value of mothers. He believes it is good exercise to rake hay and probably would laugh at a slapstick comedy. He loves economy and thrift. He has no great patent panacea for the world and no chimerical schemes for the regeneration of mankind. He merely sticks to work as a good remedy for ills in finance and to the old Stoddard arithmetic teaching that if one has $2 and spends $1 he will have $1 left. If Mr. Coolidge has no "brilliant" conceptions he still has an idea that if the government spends less money it will not be necessary to raise so much for its operation and therefore taxes may be reduced and men and women may work more for themselves and less for the government. Yes, we are bound to admit the Times has justification in its statement that Coolidge "sticks to the humdrum political virtues."

It is too bad that the autobiography of the old oak blown down in the country house yard at Birkhorn could not have been written.

The Broadhead Independent Register, long a paper devoted to support of Blaine and the senator is giving support to Coolidge and Dawes and is against Blaine for governor. It explains that it supported Blaine in 1922 because he was a dry advocate but has now become a wet leader. There are others like the Independent Register.

The Inquiring Voter—Mr. Cooper is older than Mr. La Follette, "old men for counsel, young men for war."

GERMAN MARKET FOR FARMERS

By FRIDERIC J. HASKIN.
Washington—In view of the brightened prospects brought about by the Dawes report, special attention is being paid to Germany as a market for American agricultural products. A survey of the situation has just been completed by the Department of Agriculture. The results of its agents and the conclusion has been reached that, while substantial trade will necessarily occur, the general level for the next few years will fall below the pre-war average.

The survey shows that a market for from 800,000 to 900,000 bales of raw American cotton may be expected to be found in Germany. This amount will be materially increased if Germany can regain some of the foreign markets for cotton piece-goods which she has lost in the last few years. Germany is making a hard fight to regain these markets but is working under difficulties because her costs of production have been increased and she is fighting both the United States and Great Britain for world customers for textile goods.

Skilled labor has been short and labor efficiency low. These factors have militated toward making the cost of production high and places Germany at a disadvantage. However, a general reorganization of the textile industry in Germany is in progress and it is possible to bring about an improvement it will be done.

World cotton trade has never been kept than it now is, with the United States seeking to hold its customers and the United Kingdom seeking to find new markets and hold old ones. Belgium, France and Switzerland are in the game, as well as the new states of Czechoslovakia and Poland.

The survey shows that the German market for American grain is not dependable. If Russia reaches a point where she can export large quantities of grain, Germany will take it in preference to the American product, for the haul will be shorter and the price less. The Russian grain business is uncertain. Reports show that Russia is not able to export grain, but these reports in the past have been shown to be unreliable.

Grain is a cash crop and when the Soviet authorities meet cash, they arrange to export, whether or not a surplus of the cereal exists within the Russian borders.

It is a notable fact that even in those famine years when the American Relief Administration was shipping grain to Russia to forestall starvation as far as possible, other sections of Russia, where the famine had not descended, were exporting grain. The famine occurred chiefly in the great basins of the Volga, but here and there other regions had not been visited by the hot winds of the raised good crops. These the Soviet government has sold and exported the grain, selling it for cash.

It is estimated that although some portions of Russia have been visited by crop failure this year, the old empire will export some 50,000,000 bushels. This compares with a normal pre-war export of 400,000,000 bushels. It is presumed that Germany will take practically all of this, reducing by a like amount takings from the United States. American sales of pork products and fats will be substantial, the survey shows. Germany has been caught up on her consumption of fats. During the war years fats were taken from the people for use in the manufacture of munitions of war and the lack has not yet been supplied. Even before the war Germany did not produce all the fats her people consumed.

German imports of tobacco promise to remain at a high rate. Apparently Germany turns to the solace of tobacco to encourage the philosophy of waiting for better times, for she is importing from this country at the rate of 20,000,000 pounds a year and this new survey shows no diminution in this figure.

There is one more thing to be noted, with the possible exception of tobacco, are all necessities of life. The survey does not go beyond them and promises no gains in other less essential food product sales to Germany.

The survey goes into the question of imports into the United States from Germany and finds that fairly substantial purchases are promised for the next few years. Even though the United States sells some cotton goods to Germany, Germany is able to sell other types back to America. The trade now is being carried on at the rate of about $12,000,000 a year compared with sales to us of about $17,000,000 in pre-war days. Fertilizers of various sorts have always been an important item of imports into the United States from Germany. These now are moving at the rate of about $5,000,000 a year compared with a pre-war figure of about $14,000,000.

It is an interesting fact that Germany holds her trade with this country. Whether it is that children know nothing of war and harbor no prejudices, or for some other reason, the German sales of toys to this country have returned almost to their pre-war level. They are running at the rate of $5,100,000 compared with $6,900,000 in pre-war days. Even during the harsh days after the war when trade of all sorts was completely demoralized, the toy trade held up remarkably, never falling as low as $4,000,000.

The figures for purchases of dyes from the United States show what progress the domestic dye industry has made in supplying the American market. From a figure of $6,300,000 before the war, dye imports from Germany have dropped to $2,500,000.

A striking example of how German sales to this country have been stopped by the development of a domestic industry is furnished in connection with the sugar business. In 1920, imports of beet sugar from Germany amounted to $5,400,000. By the following year it had dropped to the insignificant figure of $100,000—presumably one small cargo, and now it has disappeared from the statistics entirely. Nearly half a million dollars worth of cane sugar came in from Germany in 1920, after which the trade dwindled to absolutely nothing, not a pound being reported. The same is true of sugarbeet seed which fell from $2,150,000 in 1920 to $137,000—the present approximate rate of import.

The German farming industry has been going through much the same depression as that experienced by our own. The industry and the government have found it necessary to grant a remission of taxes until after the harvest. In some cases the farmers pay interest ranging from 4 to 7 per cent on their bank taxes until they can pay them and in extreme cases no interest is charged. This is determined by local government agents.

The government's survey shows that the American farmer is selling much more to Germany than the German farmer to America. The same is true in manufactured goods in the aggregate.

men for war." You will notice neither wanted anything to do with war back in 1918. Mr. La Follette is 69 and Mr. Cooper 74 on September 8.

The excellence of the poultry exhibit at the state fair and the increase in the number of exhibitors is gratifying. Wisconsin should start the battle cry of "A Hundred Hens on Every Farm" and raise eggs enough to pay the cost of state government even with Blaine in office.

After the Jacob-Leopold trial is over we may get someone to show an interest in the presidential campaign.

The Hon. James Fear has evidently been picked so often in his vanity by the Gazette that he has become flattened out like an exhausted toy balloon.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.
THE STATE OF YOUR HOUSE
Suppose it were said to you: "Man you may dwell here."

This house you may keep if you'll guard all things well here. See that no servant stealeth the fruit of the garden.

You may do what you will, but one thing I'll not pardon: With laws and restrictions I'll not bind you tightly. Save one, against thieves you must lock the doors nightly.

"All the charms of the house you may take for your pleasure. You may work as you choose and may play at your leisure."

All that I desire is to have the floors swept up. Pick well your servants and have the place kept up. Don't trust to others; don't view wrong too lightly. Guard it from evil and lock the doors nightly."

What do you fancy in such circumstances? Would be your attitude? Would you take chances? Would you hire servants you knew could be trusted?

Or take whomever upon you were thrust? Would you, I wonder, lie down to sleep nightly? Without making sure that each door was locked tightly?

Well, this is your house, this great country we boast of. Your house to cherish and thus make the most of.

Yet when its servants are chosen, I wonder. Do you take care to pick men who won't blunder? Are you on guard ever watchfully noting? The state of your house, or too busy for voting?

HOROSCOPE

FRIDAY, AUGUST 29, 1924.
Astrologers read this as a doubtful day, for while Saturn and Mercury are in benefic aspect, Mars and Saturn are adverse.

It is a day auspicious for advertising and publicity. Politicians and those who represent them should receive favorable response from the people, no matter what they seek to present in the way of principles.

Old ideas appear to have more power at this time than the new ones. For this reason conservative should gain influence.

This should be a favorable direction for old persons, for they should be able to lead younger men and women who will be easily persuaded. It is not a promising time for unions and mining. It will be well to be especially careful in safeguarding against accidents at this time.

This is read as a favorable day for signing contracts, but not leases.

The elevation of Jupiter is favorable for parliamentary affairs and seems to give promise of activity in congress when it convenes.

Persons whose birthdate it is should avoid litigation. The situation to go to law, but it should be overcome.

Children born on this day may be rash and difficult to manage, but these subjects of Virgo usually have in them the talents that command success.

KISSES AND MURDERERS
Civilization we hope is saved at last and the League of Nations can disband. Love, now identified as sentimentality, has done the trick. There will be no more bloodshed, at least so the law. If irresponsible members of society continue to shed it they will be pelted back to a sense of duty. They will be smothered with love, sown in mercy and drowned in tears. Such is the destiny of those who murder. Sympathy, understanding for private murders. Then the dawn of felicity, the end of crime, the abolition of courts (unfortunately involving the abolition of lawyers) and the ushering in of a thousand years of peace and kisses.

Mr. Darrow, though pretty much worn out and with imperfect control of his voice affected by the high altitudes of eloquence, was yet able to utter a few broken words in reference to his personal reward for the service he had rendered to humanity. That reward was in the hope that he had done something for the tens of thousands of poor boys who unless immediately killed would suffer a chase and go out and cave in somebody's skull.

Mr. Darrow is too modest. His reward will be greater than that. His reward will be the love and gratitude of humanity, or such part of it as survives the chase—that and any little testimonial the papas and mamma of the child widowers may choose to tender him.—Kansas City Star.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
We have a new home, yet many small ants have infested the house. (Mrs. S. C.)

Answer—Make a syrup of about half an ounce of tartar emetic, a thick syrup, and accidentally drop a little here and there about the wall of the house, about the doors and other places where they may come in, and presently they'll pass your place up and go on to some neighbors.

Purpura Hemorrhagica.
What is purpura hemorrhagica? Is it contagious? (Mrs. S. C.)

Answer—A condition in which hemorrhages occur into skin, mucous membranes, etc. It is not contagious. It is a disease of the blood, and is caused by a deficiency of platelets in the blood.

Restaurant Coffee.
Is the coffee made in restaurants, steamers, etc., of inferior quality? (Mrs. S. C.)

Answer—Generally boiled, therefore unwholesome, but not unsafe. Coffee becomes a solution of tannin when boiled.

Buttermilk.
Is buttermilk good for the stomach? Is it good to drink hot water with buttermilk? (Mrs. S. C.)

Answer—Buttermilk is a wholesome beverage and food. If one likes it, it is good for the stomach. Hot water is all right if cold water is disagreeable to take on a hot day.

LABOR FEDERATION IN DECLARATION OF ITS PRINCIPLES

The democratic party demands strict enforcement of the Sherman anti-trust law. The La Follette platform calls for use of the power of government to crush private monopoly, rather than foster it. The republican platform prebends the good old doctrine of laissez faire, or leave things about as they are.

LABOR STANDS ALONE
"No political platform meets the thought of labor on this great question of monopoly, anti-labor, and anti-democratic. The democratic party did not make its analysis on that issue alone. There are many issues but this one is well worth special consideration at the outset in order that labor's future course may be as clear as has been its past record."

DEMAND TRUST ACT REPEAL
"The American Federation of Labor has demanded and will continue to demand the repeal of the Sherman anti-trust act. It cannot hold with the republicans that nothing needs to be done, but it would prefer the status quo to a tinkering process that would result in strengthening the anti-trust act or in creating new political machinery with which to bring labor and industry together."

"Let it be set forth definitely here that labor and industry are indivisible and inseparable. Labor as such may have interests that are in conflict with the interests of other factors in industry, but as a part of the great world of industry, labor, management, science, all share in the responsibility for the prosperity and general well-being of industry, and they are all bound up in its fate."

"Labor cannot go with the democratic demand for strict and stern application of the Sherman law. The only strict and stern enforcement that act has yet had has been against labor—and labor confessedly and absolutely has had enough."

LABOR NOT A COMMUNITY
"Labor has protested from time out of mind against being classed with other merchandise. Labor is not a commodity. The democratic platform declares that labor is not a commodity, but it cannot this lip service by demanding enforcement of a law which will take from labor the right to organize and to bargain collectively with its employers. Labor is a community, and it cannot take over the task without polluting the whole effort."

WHERE GOVERNMENT COMES IN
"The proper sphere of government in helping toward beneficial results is to find and furnish information, to get at and make known the facts, to encourage and inhibit upon development within industry of machinery which will take from invested wealth its deleterious power over politics of production, employment and public relations. There is a normal course which must be pursued. Just as there always is when life is in motion, the government may be helpful, but it cannot take over the task without polluting the whole effort."

"The American labor movement will resist at all times every effort at governmental coercion, every effort of government to go counter to the natural and evolutionary forces that are at work where life has its being and its sustenance. Labor is concerned with life, while government is concerned only with formulas."

LABOR NOT A COMMUNITY
"The basis of monopoly, and of all large concerns, is in the nature of private property. There is no going back of that fact. It stands and all theorists will do well to remember."

PRODUCTION AND MONOPOLY
"Starting on that basis, ownership submits to natural forces at work in the field of industry. These natural forces make for constantly enlarging units of production and constantly enlarging organizations for production and distribution. Some of the enlargement is undoubtedly devised."

TOBACCO CROP IN PROSPERITY SIGNS STATE BACKWARD SEEN IN WISCONSIN

Corn Outlook Poor: Hay Prospects Good. Is Report of Statistician.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Madison—The corn outlook in Wisconsin is poor. Hay prospects are excellent; potatoes are promising and wheat is backward. This is the general crop outlook in the Badger state as reported by Paul O. Nyhus, state crop statistician in his August summary.

Yields of small grains are generally good, the report declares, although considerable grain is down and difficult to harvest due to late frosts. The report indicates that the crop of small grains is backward, but that the yield of wheat is good. The report also indicates that the yield of oats is good, but that the yield of barley is backward. The report also indicates that the yield of rye is good, but that the yield of clover is backward.

Potatoes Good.—Potatoes generally are in good condition over the state, on August 1. Last year conditions were spotted due to drought areas, but the uniformity of the crop this year is unusual. In general, a breeding crop is in the process of being raised in the Madison district, the report says. The yield of potatoes is good, but the yield of sweet potatoes is backward. The report also indicates that the yield of turnips is good, but that the yield of rutabagas is backward.

TODAY'S MARKET

GRAIN
Chicago Review.
Chicago—Bullish foreign news gave the market on this side of the Atlantic a firm undertone, and values took an upward slant during the early trading. Several big commission houses became active buyers at the start and the market responded well.
Initial futures, which ranged from 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 higher, with Sept. 12 1/2 to 1 3/4 and Dec. 12 1/2 to 1 3/4, were followed by a steady advance in the wheat market. The higher value in the wheat market during the day was due to a new advance of 1 1/2 to 1 3/4, with Sept. 12 1/2 to 1 3/4 and Dec. 12 1/2 to 1 3/4.
The market followed wheat up, the former being mainly influenced by the continued rise of the corn market. After starting 1 1/2 to 1 3/4, with Dec. 12 1/2 to 1 3/4, the market moved a trifle and then advanced again.
Persistent selling later affected the market, however, and a slight reaction. The close was about 1/4 higher, with values up 1 1/2 to 1 3/4, Dec. 12 1/2 to 1 3/4.
On the 26th, the market was 1/4 to 1/2 higher, with Dec. 12 1/2 to 1 3/4 and later scored slight gains.
Provisions reflected the strength in the grain and hog markets.

FIRST COOLIDGE MEETING TONIGHT

Rally at Myers to Boost National Ticket and Pfennig for Congress.

Hon. John Orth, Cedar Rapids, Ia., will speak at the Myers (theater) this evening at 8 o'clock for Coolidge and Daves and Pfennig for congress in the first district.

This is the first meeting for the republican presidential and congressional ticket held in Janesville. The speaker has been in public life and is known as one of the leading republicans of Germany. He has two sons in the American army fighting Germany. Mr. Orth has some stirring words to citizens who have the same German nativity as himself.

Hon. A. J. Matheson will act as chairman and the Bowler city band will give a concert prior to the meeting.

Pfennig to Speak
Hon. Charles J. Pfennig, republican candidate for congress and the only candidate supporting the republican ticket in the first district, will be present and make an address. Mr. Pfennig will speak for a short time Wednesday afternoon.

"I find the situation warranting the prediction that I win at the primary on Tuesday next," he said. "I have been going over the district as fast and as much as I have been able. I stand with Calvin Coolidge and will support him and his party. I should be elected to congress. I shall give him every support in his program of economical government and thereby making it possible to reduce taxes to be lowered as fast as reduction in government costs are made."

Meeting in Elkhorn
"I am a believer in the American constitution and during the war was mayor of Kenosha and chairman of the exemption board there. I was giving my country every assistance in that time and shall be for America first in congress. The issue in this campaign is common sense. It seems to me that the best expression of common sense is for republicans who are in favor of Calvin Coolidge to give him full support by electing a republican congress that will be back of the president."

Mr. Pfennig spoke with Hon. John C. Orth in Elkhorn last night.

Philippine Trade with the U. S.

The New England district office of the United States Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce says the foreign trade of the Philippines during the year 1923 amounted to $17,106,000 pesos, of which $17,600,000 pesos represented the value of the imports and $17,106,000 pesos that of the exports. The favorable balance of $494,000 pesos, compared with 1922 trade of $31,561,885 pesos; imports, $10,255,289 pesos; exports, $18,166,596 pesos; favorable balance, $7,911,307 pesos.

The growth of the Philippine trade with the United States is remarkable when compared with that of all other countries. In 1903 out of the $1,400,000 total trade of $1,400,000 pesos, $3,671,052 pesos was with the United States; 1920, $61,124,276 pesos; 1921, $97,067,733 pesos; 1922, $17,616 pesos with America; and in 1923, $31,561,885 pesos, $23,699,352 pesos with America.

By the free trade reciprocity between the Philippines and the mother country, Philippine products entering America have the advantages of duty free on sugar, $49.40 a ton; coconut oil, $44.80; desiccated or shredded coconut meat, $78.40; tobacco, wrapper unstemmed, $17.90; stemmed, $4.10; filler, unstemmed, $7.84 and stemmed, $11.20; cigars and cigarettes, $10.08 a ton plus 25 per cent ad valorem besides internal revenue tax of $4.40 per thousand (1400) cigars; woods and lumber 25 per cent; and embroideries 75 per cent ad valorem. These staples are the leading exports of the Philippines. The ton equals 2210 pounds.

The extent of Philippine economic dependence is shown by the fact that if the Philippines stop buying American products, America's total trade will register a diminution of 2 1/2 per cent; whereas if Americans cease to consume Philippine staples, Philippine exports will suffer by 67 per cent.

During 1923, 60 per cent of the imports of the Philippines were supplied by the United States, 41 per cent by Japan, 3 per cent by China, and the balance in smaller quantities by other countries.

Among the principal imports in 1922 which might be supplied direct by the New England district are cotton and its manufactures, silk and its manufactures, paper and printed matter, and iron and steel products. On the other hand, the Philippines could supply New England manufacturers with tropical raw materials and manufactured products such as embroderies, desiccated coconut, vegetable oil, cigars, tobacco leaf, cabinet woods and sugar.

Cotton and its manufactures constituted 20 per cent of the total imports of 1922 and about 63 per cent of the Philippines' supply of cotton goods originated in the United States.

Paper and printed matter constituted 2 per cent of total trade and the United States supplied 72 per cent thereof.

Silk and manufactures thereof constituted 2 per cent of total trade. The United States supplied about 39 per cent of the silk and its manufactures, China 23 per cent, and Japan 2 per cent.

TO THE DEMOCRATS OF ROCK COUNTY:

This is a most opportune time for you to again exercise the right of ballot and remain loyal to the principles of Democracy. With a great national standard bearer and a full ticket in the state we should stick to the Democratic primary and not go into any other party contests.

We have wandered away into the camps of designing politicians who hope to weaken the party of Jefferson and Wilson and break it up in the state of Wisconsin.

But this is the time to come back and here in Rock County remain in the party primary and fight the battle with a solid front of Democratic voters.

It is time to repair our lines to array ourselves for action and revive the old Democracy of Rock County and the State.

Go to the polls next Tuesday, September 2, and vote for Democratic candidates in the primary.

JAMES R. LAMB
Candidate for Assembly, 1st District.

He has served three years as member of the Board of Supervisors. Has gained intimate knowledge of Rock county affairs. He has been engaged in the practice of law in Rock Co. since 1913, except for 14 months in service during the war.

Denies as fundamentally unsound and unsafe any doctrine which excuses the violation of law on the mere theory that such law is not approved by public sentiment.

Believes that if the law relating to theft or arson or prohibition be contrary to public sentiment—repeat it—but while the law remains, RESPECT IT.

Your Support at the Primaries Sept. 2nd Will Be Appreciated.

I am a candidate for member of assembly from the first district of Rock County. I am, and have been for a number of years, a practicing attorney at Edgerton and have never held office except as City Attorney and City Clerk.

I ask for the suffrage of the people of this district on this:

MY PLATFORM

We have an abundance of laws. The statute books are filled with them. Each year more are added growing out of personal experiences, or for the purpose of securing attention to the member who introduces the bill.

I have no pet laws or schemes which I will father. I want to see less legislation and more business. I pledge myself to oppose all measures adding bureaus and other devices to complicate government and add to the force of employees. We have wandered far afield in making a bureaucratic rather than a popular government.

Neither have I any pet scheme for operating the government without taxation. Taxes are necessary, but we have the spectacle of a treasury filled with cash while the taxpayers of the state have been worried and bedeviled as to how they may meet state and other tax charges. I am in favor of returning the money which is piled up in the treasury to the people by reducing taxes.

I am in favor of the abolition of the emergency board and ending any possibility of two state officials who constitute a majority of that board, making appropriations which while they may be constitutional in the letter of the law, do violate the spirit of the constitution in taking away the power delegated to the legislature in making appropriations and spending the taxpayer's money.

I favor a gasoline tax that will permit a large part of the proceeds to be returned to the counties and localities in which the tax is paid.

In taking her place and holding it as the first state in the Union in the dairy business, I shall support and aid all movements for the eradication of bovine tuberculosis in Wisconsin.

I am in favor of the enforcement of laws as well as the observance of them. I shall vote to give support to enforcement of those laws which are greatly in the minds of the people, to the letter, and to vote for no bill weakening the execution of such laws.

I believe that the interests of the state are interdependent, that agriculture and industry need to go hand in hand for the same destination of happiness and prosperity.

George W. Blanchard

Edgerton, Wisconsin.
